I. Establishing Contractual Insurance Guidelines

Every contract has risks that must be reviewed from the perspective of protecting The University of Tennessee's assets. This document is designed to provide you with guidelines and tools to help you manage those risks when you contract on behalf of The University of Tennessee. Inherent parts of contract management are to:

1. Evaluate the risks involved
2. Decide whether to avoid, transfer, or accept the risks
3. Implement appropriate risk transfer and/or risk financing mechanisms

The goal of The University of Tennessee is to establish contract guidelines for insurance coverage that can be consistently applied with few exceptions. This can occur if The University of Tennessee decides on the limits that it will require and sticks to that decision. This may involve withstanding pressure from contractors, architect, and engineering (A/E) firms, and/or brokers. As an example, many of the large A/E firms attempt to eliminate all errors and omissions (E&O) requirements in their contracts even though the firm carries professional liability coverage.

To ensure the continued success of The University of Tennessee's contract review program, once insurance requirements have been set, they must be communicated in all bid proposals prior to awarding the contract. The program will not be successful if the insurance is negotiated after the contractor has been selected.

These general requirements should be incorporated into every contract and should not be waived without consulting with the System Office of Risk Management (SORM).

The University of Tennessee requires that all insurers:

1. Be licensed and approved to do business within the state of Tennessee.
2. Write required insurance on an "occurrence" basis (professional liability and pollution liability are acceptable written on a "claims-made" basis).
3. Name the University of Tennessee and its Board of Trustees, officers, employees, agents, and volunteers as "Additional Insureds" on general liability and other policies as specified by the contract.
4. Possess a minimum A.M. Best's Insurance Guide rating of A. The letter denotes the company's financial strength level.

5. Provide a provision in all policies that coverage afforded under the policies must not be canceled, changed, allowed to lapse, or allowed to expire until 30 calendar days after written notice has been given to the certificate holder on the certificate of insurance. All such coverage shall remain in full force and effect during the initial term of the agreement and any renewal or extension thereof.
6. Provide a completed Certificate of Insurance containing the following information:
 - ◆ Name and address of agent, phone number, email, and fax number
 - ◆ Name of insurance company(ies) and policy number(s)
 - ◆ Policy period
 - ◆ Name and address of insured
 - ◆ Description of coverage(s)
 - ◆ Policy limits
 - ◆ Special instructions of terms of coverage
 - ◆ The University of Tennessee listed as the certificate holder (See #11)
 - ◆ Signature of the insurer's authorized agent or representative and date (bonds are required to be signed by a licensed resident agent in pursuant to T.C.A. 65-15-108)
7. The University of Tennessee requires that all policies of insurance be on a primary, non-contributory basis with any other insurance coverages and/or self-insurance carried by The University of Tennessee.
8. The University of Tennessee requires the contractor provide a renewal certificate at least 30 days prior to expiration. All new and renewal certificates should be emailed to: riskmanagement@tennessee.edu
9. The University of Tennessee may also require that proof of general, professional, and pollution liability coverages be provided for up to four years after the substantial completion of a large construction project.
10. The contractor agrees that the insurance requirements specified in the contract do not reduce the liability the contractor has assumed in the indemnification/hold harmless section of the contract.
11. Certificate holder should be listed as:
 - University of Tennessee
 - ATTN: Office of Risk Management
 - 505 Summer Place – UTT 1048C
 - Knoxville, TN 37902
 - Email: riskmanagement@tennessee.edu

The University of Tennessee reserves the right to approve the security of the insurance coverages provided by the insurance company(ies) terms, conditions, and the Certificate of Insurance. Failure of the contractor to fully comply with these requirements during the term of the contract will be considered a material breach of contract and will be cause for termination of the contract at the option of The University of Tennessee.

II. Insurance Coverages

Commercial General Liability:

This coverage is required in most of The University of Tennessee contracts, including short-term lease agreements. Bid specifications and contracts should state that required coverage is ISO CG 00 01 or a substitute form providing equivalent coverage. Coverage is to include:

- ◆ Premises and Operations Liability
- ◆ Personal Injury/Advertising Liability
- ◆ Products/Completed Operations
- ◆ Liability Assumed Under an Insured Contract (including tort liability of another assumed in a business contract)
- ◆ Independent Contractors

Automobile Liability:

Auto liability insurance coverage is required for contracts contemplating any use of an automobile, such as construction projects, premises lease agreements, and service contracts. Bid specifications and contracts should state that required coverage shall be written on standard ISO CA 00 01 or a substitute form providing equivalent liability coverage. If necessary, the policy shall be endorsed to provide contractual liability coverage equivalent to that provided in the 1990 and later editions of ISO CA 00 01. Contracts must contain a requirement that the contractor provide business automobile liability coverage that includes:

- All vehicles owned, leased, hired, non-owned, and employee non-owned vehicles
- Personal injury protection (when applicable)

Workers' Compensation*:

The University requires all contractors, lessees, and vendors maintain workers' compensation insurance with statutory limits, unless the vendor is not required by state law to have workers' compensation coverage due to the type of business or number of employees. All employers in the construction business or trades (construction service providers) that have one or more employees are required by Tennessee state law to provide workers' compensation, unless they are specifically exempted. Effective March 1, 2011, owners of construction businesses are also required to carry workers' compensation coverage on themselves or be listed on the Exemption Registry. You can search the Workers' Compensation Exemption Registry and view general information about the Registry at: <https://tnbear.tn.gov/WC/WCFilingSearch.aspx>.

Employers' liability is also required with minimum limits of $100,000 Each Accident Limit/ $500,000 Disease-Policy Limit/ $100,000 Disease-Each Employee Limit.

Contractors and lessees shall be responsible for workers' compensation insurance for subcontractors or sub-lessees who directly or indirectly provide services or lease premises under The University of Tennessee's contract. This coverage must include statutory coverage for states in which employees are engaging in work. If there is an exposure of injury to Contractor's employees under the US Longshore and Harbor-Workers' Compensation Act, the Jones Act, or under laws, regulations, or statutes applicable to maritime employees, coverage shall be included for injuries or claims.

Umbrella Liability:

An umbrella liability policy (or excess liability) may be used to provide additional commercial general liability, automobile liability, and employers' liability limits to meet The University of Tennessee's minimum coverage requirements.

Professional Liability (Errors and Omissions):

Professional liability insurance protects against losses that occur when “professional” errors in judgement, planning, and design could result in economic loss to the college or university.

To determine if you should require professional liability insurance, ask yourself:

1. Is the professional licensed or certified (i.e., architect, consultant, paramedic, attorney, engineer, etc.)?
2. Will the information developed by the professional be used in a decision-making process within the institution that could create a liability (i.e., clinical trials, building construction, etc.)?

If the answer is yes to either of these questions, then professional liability insurance should be required.

The types of losses that can occur under such circumstances are often excluded under general liability policies. They can be covered through separate professional liability insurance policies, also known as errors and omissions (E&O) policies.

Because professional liability insurance is generally written on a claims-made basis, there is a concern about coverage for latent defects, design errors, or mistakes that may result in claims after the contract has been completed. One solution is to require the contractor to maintain the coverage for a specified period after the project has been completed, or to purchase an extended reporting policy (otherwise known as “tail coverage”). The University of Tennessee may also require that proof of professional liability coverage be provided for three or more years after the project completion.

Pollution Liability (including Contractors Pollution Liability Coverage):

Pollution liability coverage should be considered whenever the work at issue involves the handling of hazardous material, or the operation of the Contractor could create or exasperate an environmental hazard.

The contractor should provide pollution liability coverage to cover bodily injury; property damage, including natural resource damage, cleanup costs, removal, storage, disposal, and/or use of the pollutant; and defense, including costs and expenses incurred in the investigation, defense, or settlement of claims. Coverage should apply to the sudden and gradual pollution conditions resulting from the escape or release of smoke, vapors, fumes, acids, alkalis, toxic chemicals, liquids, or gases, natural gas, waste materials or other irritants, contaminants, or pollutants, including asbestos.

Pollution liability coverage is normally written on a claims-made basis. Therefore, the Contractor needs to warrant that any retroactive date applicable to coverage under the policy precedes the effective date of the contract and that continuous coverage will be maintained, or an extended reporting or discovery period will be exercised for a period of three (or specify desired number) years, beginning from the time that work under this contract is completed.

If the Contractor is responsible for removing any pollutants from a site, then the Contractor will need to cover its automobile exposure for transporting the pollutants from the site to an approved disposal site. Auto liability coverage should be endorsed to include the required auto pollution endorsements and Motor Carrier Act Endorsement, MCS-90.

Crime Coverage:

Crime coverage, specifically employee dishonesty coverage, should be considered whenever you contract with an organization that (1) collects money or other forms of payment on your behalf; (2) collects money or others forms of payment on their own behalf and then makes a periodic payment to you for a portion of the amount collected; (3) has special access to valuable property on your premises; (4) has special access to confidential or personal information (paper or electronically); or (5) has on-site or remote access to your computer network and data. Examples of contracted services that might require employee dishonesty coverage include:

- Janitorial, building management, or security guard services
- Cafeteria, bookstore, or parking garage operations
- Computer software design services

Coverage should be provided using ISO form CR 00 01 Employee Dishonesty Coverage Form or its equivalent and shall include ISO endorsement CR 04 01 Clients' Property or its equivalent and ISO endorsement CR 20 14 Loss Payable or its equivalent. Consider requiring evidence of loss of funds due to social engineering or impersonation fraud if situation warrants CR 04 17 11.15.

Property – Tenants/Lessees

This insurance is required for tenants and lessees. [Tenant/Lessee] shall obtain commercial property insurance covering [Tenant/Lessee's] property and equipment, as well as fixtures, improvements, and betterments if required in the lease agreement, and business income with a limit sufficient to cover tenants rent and additional payment obligations under the lease agreement. Perils insured should be equivalent to ISO special causes of loss form CP 20 30, and the valuation of covered property should be at the replacement cost. Waivers of subrogation should be included in all lease agreements.

Aviation (including Coverage for Drones)

Aviation insurance may be required for various types of activities, such as charters and land-use permits. Aircraft liability insurance should cover all owned, hired, and non-owned aircraft with a combined single limit per occurrence for bodily injury and property damage of not less than $25,000,000 with no per seat passenger limitation. If the charter is of a large, commercial size airplane – some carriers classify this as any aircraft having over 45 seats – then higher limits should be required.

The use of drones by third parties on campus is increasing in frequency. When colleges are contracting with vendors who will be using drones on campus, minimum limits of $1,000,000 and coverage extended to Bodily Injury, Property Damage, Personal Injury, and Advertising Injury should be requested.

III. Property and Casualty Insurance and Bonding Fundamentals

Before you can determine the appropriate type and amount of insurance for your contracts, it is important to understand the concept of exposure.

What is an exposure?

Exposure is defined as any situation that can lead to a loss or claim against a third-party.

What are the different types of exposure?

Exposure can be categorized broadly into two types: (1) situations that can lead to property loss, or (2) situations that can lead to bodily injury, medical harm, or death to a person.

1. Property exposure deals with potential damage to tangible things such as buildings, motor vehicles, and personal items caused by the negligent acts of vendors, contractors, university officials, and other third parties.
2. Personnel exposure deals with the potential harm, injury, or illness of any party resulting from the service, delivery, or use of goods that the University procures. Affected parties can include employees, contractors, sub-contractors, customers, and unrelated bystanders.

How is exposure related to insurance?

Exposure is present in any solicitation. It is common for more than one area of exposure to exist. For example, a building remodeling or construction contract should consider among other things the potential loss from fire (property exposure) and potential harm to construction workers (individual exposure) or pedestrians (personnel exposure). In almost all contracts, it is necessary to purchase property and casualty insurance to cover the potential financial loss to the university resulting from one or more exposures. Within any relevant bid request, it is important to stipulate the vendor/contractor's responsibility to maintain various coverage types and limits.

Do only high value contracts require insurance?

No, the need for insurance is not related to the value of the contract, but to the degree of exposure.

Why do vendors or contractors need to purchase insurance?

Insurance has two primary benefits:

1. It ensures that vendors and contractors have the financial ability to pay for damages that result from their negligent acts.
2. It protects the university from financial loss because of third-party acts during the acquisition, delivery, or usage of purchased goods or services.

What are the different types of property and casualty insurance?

The eleven primary types of insurance referred to in this document:

1. Automobile Liability: insurance that protects the insured against financial loss because of legal liability for automobile-related injuries to others or damage to their property by an automobile
2. Commercial General Liability (CGL): a standard insurance policy issued to business organizations to protect them against liability claims for bodily injury and property damage arising out of premises, operations, products and completed operations, advertising, and personal injury liability
3. Contractors Pollution Liability: provides third-party coverage for bodily injury, property damage, defense, and cleanup as a result of pollution conditions (sudden/accidental and gradual) arising from contracting operations performed by or on behalf of the contractor

4. Fidelity Insurance: covers loss due to crime or dishonesty by an employee/contractor – also known as “Fidelity Bond”
5. Professional Liability: a type of liability coverage designed to protect traditional professionals (e.g., accountants, attorneys) and quasi-professionals (e.g., real estate brokers, consultants) against liability incurred as a result of errors and omissions in performing their professional services
6. Workers’ Compensation (WC): provides medical, disability, and rehabilitation benefits to injured employees of the contractor
7. Umbrella Liability: a liability policy that provides excess coverage above underlying policies and may provide coverage not available in the underlying policies, subject to a self-insured retention
8. Environmental Impairment Liability: a specialized insurance policy that covers liability and sometimes cleanup associated with pollution
9. Builder’s Risk: a property insurance policy that is designed to cover property in the course of construction
10. Liquor Liability: type of policy that covers the insured in the business of manufacturing, distributing, selling, serving, or furnishing alcohol
11. Aircraft Liability: coverage for the insured if the insured’s negligent acts and/or omissions result in losses in connection with the use, ownership, or maintenance of an aircraft

What are bonds?

Bonds are financial instruments that reimburse third parties for financial losses due to a vendor/contractor non-performance of contract terms and conditions.

What are the different types of bonds?

There are two primary types of bonds.

- A fidelity bond protects against the financial loss from a dishonest act or crime committed by an employee of the vendor.
- A surety bond (bid, performance, or payment bond) ensures a vendor fulfills certain terms and conditions of a contract.

I have insurance – do I need a bond?

Insurance protects against a potential loss from property or personnel exposure. A bond provides additional coverage by protecting against a non-performance of contract terms and conditions by a vendor. For more information, please refer to the Bonding Guidelines section in Section VI.

Are bond requirements related to the value of contracts?

For some types of contracts, such as building construction, bonds are required if the contract amount is above $100,000. For lower value contracts, one may consider requiring liquidated damages in lieu of bonds – please contact your legal counsel for additional guidance.

IV. Insurance Coverage Guidelines for Vendors / Contractors

The following recommended minimum insurance coverages and limits apply to vendors doing business with the University of Tennessee. The Standard Insurance Limits are recommended for all procurements of goods and ancillary services. The specific requirements for vendors providing higher risk services supersede the Standard Insurance Limits. Coverage types and limits are recommended minimums and should be increased as appropriate based on contract value and potential risks to the university. To achieve the appropriate coverage levels, a combination of a specific policy written with an umbrella policy covering liabilities above stated limits is acceptable.¹ Procuring entities should always consult with appropriate risk management experts.

Please contact The University of Tennessee Office of Risk Management, who can assist entities in risk management analysis. In order for our office to advise on necessary coverage types and limits for a specific bid request, please send queries to Pamela Jeffreys at pjeffrey@tennessee.edu at least two weeks before anticipated bid request release.

Important:

All policies must contain a provision that coverage afforded under the policies must not be canceled, changed, allowed to lapse, or allowed to expire until 30 calendar days after written notice has been given to the certificate holder on the Certificate of Insurance (COI). All such coverage shall remain in full force and effect during the initial term of the agreement and any renewal or extension thereof.

All policies must be issued by an insurance company licensed to do business in the State of Tennessee, with a minimum AM Best rating of A, and signed by an authorized agent. Bonds are required to be signed by a licensed resident agent in pursuant to T.C.A. 65-15-108.

Please note: The expanded list of categories, relevant insurance types, and recommended limits are to be used as guidelines and are indicative of best practices but are not exhaustive. Your insurance needs may be higher (or lower). Please consult the UT System Office of Risk Management for any questions.

TULIP- (Tenant User Liability Insurance Policy)

The TULIP is a Tenants' and Users' Liability Insurance Policy that provides special event liability coverage. It is used by institutions that permit "third-parties" to use their facilities for specific events. It is designed for third party users who do not carry liability insurance and is offered at a low cost. It is event-specific and can also cover vendors, performers, and exhibitors, if needed. It protects both the institution user (the third party) and the University of Tennessee against claims by third parties who may be injured or experience damage to property as a result of participating in an event.

Events may range from low-risk events such as classroom seminars, receptions, or weddings to high-risk events including festivals and fairs, sports events, or concerts. The policy has exclusions for certain high-risk activities. Facility users may need to obtain coverage from another insurer if their event does not qualify for the TULIP program.

Below are the steps for the third-party/vendor to follow to purchase the TULIP policy:

1. Go to <https://tulip.ajgrms.com/>
2. Select the Quick Quote tab.
3. Pick Tennessee in the drop-down menu.
4. Select the University of Tennessee as the location.
5. Answer questions about date, attendees, event types, and coverage options.
6. Review Premium Quote and then purchase coverage.
7. Should you have any questions about the Insurance Requirements for events, please contact the Office of Risk Management at 865-974-5409.

VI. Bonding Guidelines

What is a surety bond?

Surety bonds are designed to help the obligee ensure that the contractor will complete the job in accordance with the contract. If a bonded contractor defaulted on any obligation of a bonded job, the surety may seek to recover any amounts it paid to the obligee (the Entity) from the principal (the bonded contractor). Thus, the bonded contractor has a punitive incentive through the legal constraints of the bond to complete the work expected by the obligee. Further, surety companies carefully underwrite applicants for bonds by examining the contractor's managerial and financial ability to undertake and complete a job. Thus, the requirement for surety bonds also serves to eliminate truly unqualified contractors from the bid process. All public works contracts should include a requirement that the contractor furnish contract bonds, but you may choose to exercise discretion for certain types of jobs that have inconsequential cost or risk of other harm should a contractor fail to complete the work. The surety bonds related to public work contracts include: Bid Bonds, Performance Bonds, Payment Bonds, and Completion Bonds. Collectively, they are referred to as Contract Bonds.

What are the most common types of surety bonds?

Bid:

Guarantees that the bidder (e.g., construction contractor) will enter into the contract at the submitted price during the RFX process. Additionally, the bid bond sets the requirements for performance and payment bonds as necessary. Bid bonds are drafted during the RFX process.

Performance Bond (also may be called Contract Bonds):

Protects the owner (e.g., University) from financial loss caused by the contractor who fails to deliver goods or services in accordance with the terms, specifications, and conditions of the contract

Payment Bond (also may be called Contract Bonds):

Protects certain providers of material and labor to a job (e.g., subcontractor). It guarantees the contractor will pay bills in accordance with the contract terms

When are surety bonds needed?

Surety bonds may be required based on the terms of a given solicitation – especially when the non-performance of contract terms would have adverse financial effects on the entity– or when subcontractors play a key role in the successful outcome of a contract.

Bid, Performance and Payment bonds are required for certain state construction contracts as described by various Tennessee statutes. Please refer to the following for additional information:

Bid bonds

Tenn. Code Ann. §62-6-129 (bid bonds for construction manager services)

Performance bonds

Tenn. Code Ann. §4-15-102

Payment bonds

Tenn. Code Ann. §4-15-102

Tenn. Code Ann. §12-4-201 through §12-4-208

What is a fidelity bond?

A fidelity bond provides financial reimbursement to the University of Tennessee for the wrongful taking of UT-owned property by a third-party contractor's employee(s).

When are fidelity bonds needed?

Typically, fidelity bonds are required when third-party contractors have their employees engaged in work under a state or University contract with limited state or University supervision present and have easy access to university property and/or monies. Examples: vendors who provide after-hour janitorial services, security services, or concessionaire contracts.
